

Testimonial

part three

When I first started, all people could tell me to do was collect testimonies. After so many, I haven't made that a priority anymore. What I have decided to do is put in a few here that I feel are important in following the course of events and thinking which lead to the conclusions that will be explained in the next part.

1. Jodi Latimer - Jodi's mother is a Naturopathic Doctor and had called me one night in a panic. She had told me that her daughter had brain cancer and asked if I could help. I had mostly worked with people in pain, but thought we'd give it a try. I'm glad we did. She was my first cancer patient.
2. Ray Bonella - I didn't realize how bad Ray's prostate cancer was until he was better.
3. Ben McCulloch - Ben had told me he had his prostate removed twice! He was still in bad shape and the cancer was spreading.
4. Linda McLemore - What makes Linda's case interesting is that she had limited nutritional resources. Colon cancer is one of the easier ones I work with.
5. Florence Stoddard - Merkel cell carcinoma follows the same scenario as other cancers. Her age is what I liked about this one.
6. Cindy Pelletier - This is the story that is the start of putting it all together. Incredible!
7. Maxine Murray - Maxine has helped me tremendously in monitoring and explaining the outcomes of these serious health issues using radiation hormesis. This story is the final connection that proves my hypothesis.
